

Intergenerational Trauma in Comparative Perspective and How Healers Should Approach It

Thursday, May 26th, 2022
10:30 AM – 12:30 PM (PT)

3hrs CE; 2hrs Live Training and 1hr of REQUIRED pre-reading

Training Summary and Educational Goals:

This session will introduce participants to the concepts of intergenerational trauma and understanding multi-generational transmission demonstrated through education, research, and practice. Discuss healthy resilience and address cycles of cultural, racial, social, familial, and historical trauma. Provide empirically evidenced practices and tools to address intergenerational trauma, through a clinical and nonclinical lens. Educational goals are; professional growth, development of knowledge and understanding of intergenerational trauma, and the development of clinical skills when treating trauma associated with multi-generational transmission.

Kini Chang, LMFT is an Assistant Clinical Professor and Director at Holy Names University Counseling and Forensic Psychology Graduate Program. She has a private practice in Oakland, CA where she specializes in treating and healing intergenerational trauma through a social justice and decolonizing psychotherapy lens.
